A. Mr. Matthews is the chairman of my practice group. I have to make him aware of when I'm in the office and out of the office.
I've had a conversation with Mr. Matthews regarding my appearance today and the context of my availability to work on other transactions, my availability or lack of availability in the office.

- Q. And at some point in 1999, did you learn that there had been a lawsuit filed in state court in an attempt to stop the merger?
- A. I don't recall knowledge of any lawsuit in 1999.
- Q. Okay. Did you subsequently learn of the Thiemann litigation, the subject matter that brings us here today?
- 23 A. Yes.
- Q. When did you learn of the Thiemann action?

- A. I don't recall anyone bringing this to my attention.
- Q. Okay. After you read this article in the Cincinnati Business Courier, what was your reaction to it?

17	Q As you sit here today, are you
18	unaware that KMK is a defendant in what's known
19	as the Meier action?
20	MR. FISCHER: Don't answer that
21	question. The only way he knows would know
22	is from communications from counsel.
23	(Plaintiff's Exhibit Number 40
24	was marked for identification.)
25	Q. Mr. Winstead, I'm handing you what asked to produce or preserve any documents with respect to the matter placed in front of me, 3 Gary and Lisa Meier, and Gary Meier C-F Lindsey Meier versus OHSL Financial Corp and various other defendants. 6 MR. FISCHER: Just for the record, the documents handed to us were not the same as the exhibit shown to Mr. Winstead. Mr. Winstead has a different document in front of 10 him than what's been handed out, just for the 11 record. 12 Q. Thank you. All right. Do you see 13 the caption there, sir? 14 A. Which caption, sir? 15 Q. The caption in the complaint. 16 A. Plaintiffs versus defendants 17 caption? 18 Q. Yes. 19 A. Yes. I see that in front of me. 20 Q. Okay. Do you see that KMK is 21 listed there as a defendant? A. Reading through the caption for 22 23 the first time, I see on the second to the last 24 line, Keating, Muething & Klekamp.

Q. And they're listed as defendants,

          Q. Yes. Is it your understanding as an attorney that when an entity is named as a 12 defendant in litigation, that that entity has an obligation to preserve and produce documents

13
14
     when requested?
15
            MR. FISCHER: Same objection.
16
         A. My area of practice is corporate 17 transactional law. Is it -- my response to your question would be that I'm sure that the 18
    Rules of Civil Procedure govern when and to what extent documents are to be produced and 21

    not produced.
22
            I'm not an expert in that area. I

     Q. Okay. Mr. Winstead, I'm not asking for specialized knowledge. I'm asking the situation like this where KMK has been named as a defendant, do you believe that KMK should preserve documents relative to the litigation?
        MR. FISCHER: Same objection.
        MS. ROWE: Objection.

     A. Again, my answer is in any particular litigation, what would and would not be required to be produced I believe would vary. I have no knowledge of this particular litigation or the circumstances or what documents should or should not be produced.

communication? Is that your position? l 2 A. That's the -- I would defer on that question to any preference my counsel has 4 or the position of my counsel. Mr. Fischer is 5 representing me with respect to those matters. 6 Q. Is that your understanding with 7 respect to the official KMK party line? 8 MR FISCHER: Objection. 9 MS. ROWE: I object to that 10 question also. 11 A. I'm unaware of any offerial or 12 unofficial KMK party line. 13 Q. Okay. But is it your understanding from today's deposition that if 14 you spoke to Mr. Reuter over the water cooler 15 about the OHSL litigation, that that would be a 16 privileged communication? Is that your 17 18 understanding of the position your counsel is 19 asserting? 20 MR. FISCHER: That's not the 21 position I'm asserting, so I object to the 22 question. 23 A. Can you repeat the question, 24 25 Q. Certainly. If you spoke to Mr.

there's one other qualification. If it was not 2 during the time of -- that they were working on 3 the transaction itself. 4 Q. Okav. Since --5 MR. FISCHER: Do you understand what I'm saying? 6 7 Q. Okay. Since December 3rd, 1999, 8 have you ever had any conversations with Mr. Reuter about the fact of the merger or about 10 the fact of litigation arising from the merger? 11 MR. FISCHER: As long as it was 12 not for the rendition of legal services for 13 Provident, you can answer that question. If it was for the rendition of legal services to 14 15 Provident, don't answer that question. 16 The way I understand your 17 question, sir, it seems there are two separate 18 questions there. Are you asking if I had 19 conversations regarding the merger transaction 20 with Mr. Reuter? 21 Q. I'm asking --22 A. Or are you asking specifically 23 regarding the litigation? 24 Q. I'm asking about both, but I'm phrasing it since December 3rd, 1999, have you asked what date I would be giving my deposition. My recollection is that I replied

18 Tuesday and that Mr. Reuter replied that he

19 would be giving a deposition either Wednesday 20 or Thursday of this week. 21

Q. And in the last three and a half 22 years since this has -- since the merger, this is the only conversation that you had with Mr. 23

24 Reuter about the merger or about the 25 litigation, other than with Patrick Fischer

A. I don't recall any conversations 15 with Mr. Reuter in a casual context regarding this litigation. 16 17 Q. Okay. How about in a noncasual 18 context without Mr. Fischer present?

19 MR. FISCHER: Same instruction.

20 A. I don't recall any conversations regarding this litigation in a noncasual 22 context that were not in the presence of Mr. 23

MR. FISCHER: Objection.

A. No.

Q. Are you -- since December 3rd of 1999, have you provided additional legal services to Provident?

Q. Other than services that may have taken place after December 3rd of 1999 related to the merger, what additional services have you provided to Provident generally?

MR. FISCHER: Objection. Don't discuss any communications with Provident. Don't discuss any research you've done for Provident. Don't discuss any documentation you've done for Provident.

MS. ROWE: I'd like to make that objection to relevance.

19 MR. FISCHER: And certainly do not 20 disclose anything about legal services that you provided to Provident, except in the most 21 22 generic sense.

23 A. Since December of 1999, I have 24 worked on numerous transactions where the client was the Provident Bank.

A. No.

Q. Okay. Since December 3rd, 1999. have you had any conversations with Timothy Matthews outside the presence of Pat Fischer with respect to either the OHSL-Provident merger or any pending litigation arising from that merger?

MR. FISCHER: Same instruction. If it involves the rendition of legal services to Provident, work product for Provident or with regard to conversations about your deposition here, don't answer. Otherwise, you can answer.

14 A. I don't recall any conversations 15 with Mr. Matthews other than to make Mr. Matthews aware that I would not be present in 17 the office today.

18 Q. So you don't recall any conversations with Mr. Matthews at or about the 19 20 time of the filing of the lawsuit in September 21 of 2000? 22 MR. FISCHER: Any conversations

23 with Mr. Matthews at all? 24 Q. Yes, about the time of the filing of the lawsuit on September 20th of 2000.

Q. Were any of these related to mergers and acquisitions?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you provide similar services to the services you provided with respect to the OHSL-Provident merger?

MR. FISCHER: Objection, relevance. And it's not -- it's not clear what he provided, but go ahead if you can answer it. He's asking you did you provide the exact same work for both.

A. I'm not sure of the undefined term similar services. I have provided transactional attorney services to Provident 15 Bank in numerous transactions since 1999. Q. Do you consider Provident and PFGI 16 17 to be the premier client of KMK?

18 MR. FISCHER: Objection. 19 MS. ROWE: Objection.

20 MR. FISCHER: Relevance, waste of 21

22 A. I'm not sure I understand your 23 definition of premier.

24 Q. Do you have an understanding of 25 what a premier client means?

 A. I don't recall any specific conversations with Mr. Matthews in that time 3 frame in the year 2000.

A. No.

MR. FISCHER: Same instructions as 14 before.

15 A. I don't recall any conversations 16 with J. David Rosenberg.

17 Q. Okay. Did you ever have any 18 conversations with Gary Kreider about the fact of the litigation or about the OHSL merger since December 3rd, 1999?

MR. FISCHER: Objection. Also flies in the face of the entire testimony. The commercial finance group didn't exist until the fall of 2002.

MS. ROWE: Objection to form.

Q. Actually that's a good point, let 16 me withdraw that question. What practice group, if any, were you affiliated with in the 18 summer of 1999 when you were working on the 19 OHSL-Provident merger?

20 A. In 1999, I was assigned as a 21 corporate associate. At that time we did not 22 have formalized practice groups, as came into 23 existence in the fall of 2002.

24 Q. Okay. And who were you working 25 for at that time?

Q. What tasks did you perform?

I don't recall the specific tasks.

Q. What tasks did you perform generally?

MR. FISCHER: Objection, form. Again, do not reveal communications for the rendition of legal services.

A. Again, I don't have a recollection of specific tasking with respect to this transaction. As a general statement, my role as an associate is to complete such matters and such documents as are necessary to accomplish the terms in, for instance, a merger agreement.

Q. Okav. And what matters and what documents were you asked to complete or have input into?

MR. FISCHER: Same instruction. Do not reveal communications from clients or from other attorneys at Keating, Muething & Klekamp involved in the rendition of legal services for Provident in this matter. A. Would you repeat the question?

Q. In a general sense, did you understand the OHSL-Provident merger that you were working on?

MR. FISCHER: Objection. When? . Form of the question, too broad.

A. At the time I was working on the transaction, I don't have any recollection of either understanding or not understanding any particular point in the — in the merger agreement or with respect to the transaction.

Any specific questions I would have had, I would have asked other people involved in the transaction.

Q. Okay. My question is a little different. During the time you were working on the OHSL-Provident merger, did you generally understand the merger and its terms?

MR. FISCHER: Same objection. I believe he's already answered. Go ahead.

A. Again, as a general statement, I

A. The shareholders of one company exchanged their shares in the company for the shares of another company.

Q. And in this case, upon certain conditions precedent being met, shareholders of OHSL would receive Provident stock, correct?

MS. ROWE: Object to form. MR. FISCHER: Objection.

A. Again, as a very general statement, that's my recollection of this transaction, but any specific terms would be in the merger agreement.

Q. Okay. We're not there yet, we're just on the general stuff, okay? What's on the proxy material?

A. As a very general statement, a proxy is a technical document that asks shareholders of a company to be aware of, understand and consent to company matters.

Q. When you say consent, you actually mean to vote on company matters, correct?

A. My area of practice is not securities law. I'm giving you very close to layman term understanding of what proxy statement is and is not. In fact, I'm pushing was aware that there was a merger transaction going on. I don't recall the specific extent of the detailed knowledge with respect to the transaction at that time.

Q. Mr. Winstead, once again my question is a little different. During the time you were working on the transaction in the summer of 1999, did you understand it? I'm not asking about detailed knowledge. I'm not asking for complex ratios. I'm asking generally speaking if you understand the transaction.

13 MR. FISCHER: Same objection, 14 harassing now.

MS ROWE: Objection.

A. Again, my question is, what do you mean by understand the transaction? Was I aware a transaction was going on? Yes.

Q. Well, Mr. Winstead, the way it works in this procedure is I get to ask the questions. If you can answer the question, you should. If you can't, tell me and I'll move on

23 to a different area.24 MR. FISCH

MR. FISCHER: Objection. Don't lecture the witness, ask a question.

of -- of the terms of this transaction. 18 19

Q. Okay. Even in general terms?

In the general terms.

MR. FISCHER: Same objection.

22 A. In general terms it was a merger 23 of the two entities, Provident Bank and OHSL.

24 Q. And it was a stock for stock

7 A. Again, as a general statement and not as particularly knowledgeable about when --9 where proxy statements can be used, proxy statements are used to solicit the votes of 10 11 shareholders.

Q. What was the purpose of this proxy material?

MR. FISCHER: Same objection.

A. I don't have a detailed knowledge of the specific purposes and the specific consents that this proxy statement was used for. My general recollection is this proxy statement would have been and was used to gather the consent of the shareholders to approve the merger transaction with the Provident Bank.

Q. Okay. Is it important that the proxy materials be accurate?

MR. FISCHER: Objection.

A. I don't recall that level detail.

Q. Well, you do understand that OHSL shareholders, if the merger was approved, would receive Provident stock, correct?

A. That is my recollection.

Q. Okay. You gave a working deposition -- definition of proxy materials before. Do you remember that definition? MR. FISCHER: Objection.

A. In a general sense, ves.

Q. Okay. What is the purpose of 18 19 proxy materials?

20 A. My understanding in a general 21 sense, a proxy statement is provided to the shareholders to solicit their knowledge regarding any number of purposes, including

24 transactions, approval of transactions, election of board of directors, approval of

A. Again, I think that's a question that in the context of preparation of proxy materials, accurate may have a specific legal definition that I'm not knowledgeable enough to 5 provide.

6 Q. So it's your testimony as you sit 7 here under oath that you're not aware one way 8 or another whether it's important for the proxy 9 materials to be accurate. Is that your 10 testimony?

MR. FISCHER: Objection. That's not what he said. Form.

A. Again, in the context of a proxy statement, accurate may have a specific legal definition that I'm not in a position to give a specific legal definition to.

Q. Okay. Well, Mr. Winstead, you've 17 worked on a number of mergers and acquisitions. 18 You've worked on a number of complex financial 19 20 situations -- transactions. Are you aware of 21 any legal, term of art definition of accurate?

22 A. Well, to answer your question, 23 I've never seen a defined term in any document for accurate. There is certainly conceptual provisions regarding materiality, which is in

  - I don't recall what my conception of materiality was in the summer of 1999.
- 5 Q. What's your conception of 6 materiality now?

7

12

A. Materiality can be in the context. of transactional documents, a defined term. defined to specific transactions in -transactions in which I work, that definition of material can be specified as smore general legal concept.

13 I don't have a specific working definition of what any particular Court has 14 considered material or not material. I believe 13 the definition of material can vary, depending 17 on the circumstances of a particular litigation matter, the circumstances of a particular transaction.

19 20 Q. And what would you consider 21 material to this transaction?

Mr. Winstead, as far as you know, you've never seen or read this article before today; is that correct?  A. That is correct.  Q. Who is Ken Hanauer with respect to this transaction?  A. The information provided in the article you handed me, Ken Hanauer was Oak Hills' CEO.	Page 106	16 17 18 19 20	unquote, true?  MS. ROWE: Objection.  MR. FISCHER: Objection.  A. I have no knowledge as to any opposition or any position that Mr. Hansuer took with respect to this merger.  Q. Now, you talked earlier about materiality. Do you remember that testimony generally?  A. Generally, yes.  Q. Do you believe that the opposition of the CEO of the company, who's the largest shareholder, who is the only member of management to be on the Board, the opposition to a merger transaction would be potentially material information? Again, in a hypothetical question, anything is going to be related to the facts of a specific transaction, but whether it's material or immaterial would depend upon the transaction. It could be material, it may not

MS. ROWE: Objection.  A. I don't know. Q. Okay. Let me direct your attention to the right-hand column. And it says, Burke's response, quote, Hanauer opposed the Provident takeover because he wanted Oak Hills to remain independent. Do you see that?  MR. FISCHER: Objection. There's no quotation mark. Do you see that?  MR. FISCHER: I see that  MS. ROWE: I also object because it omits the final sentence of that paragraph.  MR. FISCHER: Yes, but also there's no quotation mark. Do you see that?  A. I see that language in the article.  Q. Is that a true statement?  MS. ROWE: Objection.  MR. BUCKLEY: Objection.  MR. FISCHER: Is what a true statement? Objection.  Q. Are the words, quote, Hanauer opposed the provident takeover because he wanted Oak Hills to remain independent,	be material in certain circumstances.  Q. Why did you say hypothetical situation?  A. Hypothetical in the sense as to whether a CEO's opposition to an opposition or in support of is material or immaterial.  Q. What about in this case? You worked on the transaction. I think we've established that, correct?  MR. FISCHER: Objection.  Q. Correct?  A. Yes.  MR. FISCHER: That's not his testimony.  A. I have worked on this transaction. Q. Thank you. And as an attorney working on the transaction, you would be expected to know what materiality is, correct?  MR. FISCHER: Objection.  MS. ROWE: Objection.  A. Materiality would go to specific circumstances, specific legal questions, specific matters. There's not a general materiality concept I would be working with.  Q. Okay. How about this specific
